Flexible redaction for sensitive information

Businesses are facing security concerns due to legislation and have been directed to redact sensitive information. As an efficient and secure solution, PaperFree's BlackMark is ideal.

BlackMark is a highly effective and cost-efficient redaction solution designed to provide dependable results for all businesses. As one of the most trusted redaction solutions available, BlackMark is feature-packed and offers an easy-to-use interface to ensure your company's sensitive information is protected – accurately and permanently.

Intuitive and streamlined, BlackMark works by importing scanned documents into a desktop interface where operators can easily add redactions, stamps, and annotations to any location on the document. These redaction elements are also easily edited if needed. Once finalized, the additions are “burned” into the document for the safest redaction possible. BlackMark also saves the original document securely for later retrieval if necessary.

PaperFree works closely with all businesses and has the experience to develop a true redaction solution. While the concept of redaction is not new, PaperFree makes it easy with BlackMark and ideal for any size industry. In addition, PaperFree offers the added capability and ability to process large volumes of documents with the automated redaction technology available in BlackMark+.
